Social Studies

We will talk about economic interdependence and about how we depend on each other for our needs.

Reading/Writing

The theme for this week is "Making Money" and the main story is set during the California Gold Rush. It is about a girl whose family moves to California and are unable to find gold. She ends up saving her family by doing something very unique.

We are comparing in writing this week. They will choose themselves and someone else to compare and they will talk about how they are alike and different.

Math

We are finishing up the chapter on fractions by getting into mixed fractions (which are greater than one) and equivalent fractions.

Please have your child eat breakfast and get him/her to bed early Monday night for state testing!

We will do a flashlight lab on why we have seasons and day and night.

Happy 9th Birthday to Austin Jacobs on the 16th!
